Judges decide that an autistic child cannot go to a normal school

Judges from the European Court of Human Rights

said no to a mother from France

who wants her autistic son

to go to a normal school.

A judge is a person who decide how to follow the laws.

Laws are rules people must follow.

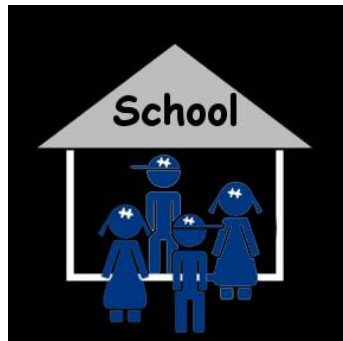

The European Court of Human Rights

is a place where judges make sure every country in Europe respects the human rights of everyone.

A right is what you can and cannot do.

The judges say the autistic boy has to go to a school for autistic people.

The law in France is that autistic and non-autistic children can be in the same school.

Autism-Europe says that this right should be respected.

For Autism-Europe, schools should have autistic and non-autistic children.

Support our campaign 2019

Every year Autism-Europe runs a campaign.

Autism-Europe wants you to support its campaign 2019.

The name of our campaign in 2019 is “A New Dynamic for autism.
I ∞ autism”.

A campaign is a number of activities that help give people a message.

The message we want to give people is that we must understand autism better and respect autistic people.

We want people to know about autism and our congress.

Autism-Europe members meet in La Spezia

Between 3 and 5 May 2019, Autism Europe members met in La Spezia.

La Spezia is a city in Italy.

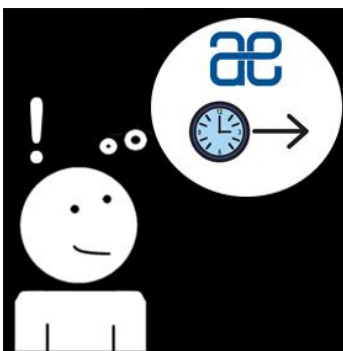

Italy is a country in Europe.

More than 50 members
came to the meeting in the city of La Spezia.

The members came from 14 different countries.

The members at the meetings
talked about the things
Autism-Europe will do in the future.

Members also talked about the campaign of Autism-Europe.

They also talked about plans for Autism-Europe's congress in 2019.

They chose to accept new members of Autism-Europe.

They chose where Autism-Europe's congress will be in 2022.

The members also went to a hostel, where autistic people work.

A hostel is a place where people can stay overnight.

The name of the hostel is Sant'Anna.

Then the members also went to a place where autistic people learn how to work.

The name of this place is Luna Blue.

At this place there is also a hotel and restaurant
where autistic people work.

A restaurant is a place where people can go to eat and drink.

The food and drinks
are brought by autistic people.

On 3 May, Luna Blue opened.

Aurelie Baranger was there when Luna Blue opened.

She is the director of Autism-Europe.

She said Autism-Europe
fully agrees with the way autistic people are helped at Luna Blue
to live and work on their own.
